

A large rectangular area below the rabbit's face, divided into two vertical columns by a central dashed line. Each column contains three vertical dashed lines, providing a guide for cutting out the rabbit's ears and body.

A large rectangular area containing four vertical dashed lines, serving as a guide for cutting out the rabbit shape.

